Dr. Craig Schwimmer
Founder and Medical Director, Snoring CenterSM

Craig Schwimmer, MD, MPH, FACS, a Board-Certified Otolaryngologist, is the medical director of The Snoring Center, a specialty medical practice dedicated to minimally invasive treatment of snoring and sleep apnea. The Snoring Center is the nation's leading provider of the Pillar Procedure and of Coblation-assisted turbinate reduction.

A 1991 graduate of the Emory University School of Medicine, he completed his otolaryngology training at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, Michigan, studying under some of the leading clinicians and scientists in the field of snoring and sleep apnea. He has co-authored numerous articles on the subject, including pioneering work on the relationship between obstructive sleep apnea and gastroesophageal reflux.

After six years of residency training, he practiced in Baltimore, Maryland, where he was also a member of the teaching faculty at Johns Hopkins University and actively involved in training otolaryngology residents. Since 2001, he has practiced in Dallas, where he remains involved in residency training. He holds a clinical appointment at the UT Southwestern Medical School and is a member of the teaching staff at Methodist Health System. He is an internationally-acknowledged leader in treating snoring and sleep apnea.
